CROSSFIELD NEWS BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Iaw from Hussar were visitors in town last Wednesday.

Mrs. Bert Bannister, who had the misfortune of breaking her wrist when she slipped and fell on some ice near Bill's Garage, is suffering a painful injury. She is staying in Calgary and being cared for in Holy Cross Hospital, where her husband Bert is recovering from surgery performed last Wednesday. Mr. Bannister hopes to be released Thursday and report says he is doing fine.

Mrs. Hank McDonald returned from hospital on Friday last and is feeling very well again. Mr. McDonald, who has not been too well all winter, is as usual cheerful and confident that Mrs. McDonald is well on the road to recovery.

Miss Barbara Bills and Mr. Frank Thompson were week-end visitors in Crossfield, Barbara visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Laut.

Lawrence Lilley visited at home for several days during change in shifts in oil crew at Devon. He enjoyed the Fish and Game dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lilley entertained twelve dinner guests in their farm home on Sunday last. The evening was spent playing Canasta, and a midnight lunch was served.

The parents of Mrs. C. D. Casey, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Knight, of Victoria, arrived in Calgary via plane on Wednesday, February 20, and were conveyed to the Casey farm, north of Crossfield.

FRIDAY, February 15th, was a Day of Mourning throughout Canada, marking as it did the funeral day of His Majesty, the late King George VI.

THE NEW QUEEN, shown above in a picture taken on her visit to Edmonton last fall, has now assumed the rigorous responsibilities of the monarchy, as Elizabeth II.

where they will make their home, until their own home in Calgary is vacated by tenants. Mr. Knight underwent surgery for the amputation of a leg some months ago, but stood the trip well and glad to be back in Alberta with his children.

SKATING CARNIVAL ON LOCAL RINK SPONSORED BY HOME AND SCHOOL

CROSSFIELD—Despite a very chilly night and other local attractions, a large crowd went forth on Friday, Feb. 22nd to enjoy the skating carnival at the local rink sponsored by the Crossfield Home and School Association.

Five young skaters from the Glencoe Club of Calgary displayed their talents to an appreciative audience and then the brownies, rabbits, angels, old-fashioned ladies, nurses, the three bears and a trapper with his sleigh dog and all equipment, were judged for their costumes.

Races for everybody from the pre school tots to adults helped warm up the participants, but not those standing on the snow banks along the sides of the rink.

Following the announcement by commentator Neil Bannister that Edna Jensen, sponsored by the FWUA, had been elected Queen of the Carnival and Edith Bills, sponsored by the Students' Union, was lady-in-waiting, last year's carnival queen, Joyce McDonald, placed the royal mantle and crown on Miss Jensen. Mayor Hurt then made a presentation to both ladies on behalf of the Home and School Association.

Mrs. Roy Banta made a presentation to the queen on behalf of the FWUA and then the ice was cleared for a bang-up broom ball game in which the "Oldsters" defeated the local High School boys by a score of 1-0.

Skating to music brought the Carnival to a successful close with the Home and School having the sum of $73 to give the village council toward the upkeep of the skating rink.

HOME, SCHOOL HOLD MEETING CELEBRATING FOUNDERS DAY

CROSSFIELD—The regular meeting of the Crossfield Home and School was held on Thursday, February 21st, in the basement of the community hall with president Wayne Heywood in the chair.

Following a short business session and a recess, those present were seated at tables decorated in the H. and S. colors of blue, gold and red to enjoy a hot supper in honor of Founders Day. A decorated birthday cake with six candles graced the head table at which were seated Mr. J. Belshaw, Principal H. Mumby, Mr. Milner, principal of the new school east of town; Mrs. Annie Aldred, past president; Mr. Munroe McLeod, past provincial president; Mr. Hector McDonald, past president; Mrs. M. McLeod, Mr. F. Laut, past president; Mr. N. King, president of the Madden H. and S., and President Wayne Heywood.

Principal H. Mumby, referred to by the toastmaster, Mr. H. McDonald, as the "father" of the Crossfield Home and School, gave a very interesting resume of the six years of Home and School in Crossfield.

Guest speaker, Mr. Munroe McLeod, superintendent of the Wheatland School Division and a past president of the Provincial Home and School, traced the history of H. and S. from its beginning in the U.S.A. in 1894 as a Parents' Club, its spread into Canada by way of Cape Breton and its growth across Canada. Mr. McLeod paid tribute to various provincial presidents and said that the real work of the H. and S. lay with the 365 provincial groups or associations. Mr. McLeod closed his enlightening address by warning that local groups should not try to expand into too many fields of endeavor.

Principal H. Mumby's room won the prize for having the most member parents present.

Miscellaneous Shower Held Recently In Madden Church

MADDEN — On Wednesday, Feb. 20, Mrs. N. King was hostess at a miscellaneous shower held in the church for Miss Laura Liddell, whose marriage took place Saturday.

The gifts were piled in a miniature hospital and pulled in a decorated wagon by Joyce Dodd and Margaret Hamilton, who were dressed as nurses. Miss Jean Massie, a former classmate of the bride-elect, very fittingly preented the gifts. Miss Liddell was helped by Miss Ann McEwan and Miss Jean Massie in the opening of the parcels.

Laura thanked everyone for the gifts and extended an invitation to visit her in her new home, which will be in Hanna.

A bountiful lunch was served in the basement. The tables were decorated with flowers, and the brides' table centred with a delicious angel food cake.

Student's Union Expresses Gratitude

CROSSFIELD — The Crossfield Students Union was more than delighted at the number of entries in the High School Bonspiel, also at the generous prizes received from merchants, the cooking from parents and friends and the general co-operation shown. To all this the school students and teachers are deeply indebted and would like to say "Thanks a million."

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our thanks and appreciation to the fire brigade for its prompt double duty of Thursday last when our garage was gutted with fire during the day and a recurrence in the evening. A very special thanks also is felt for those friends who arrived to help, and to Constable Mansell for thoughtful traffic control. Gratefully,
— Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrison.

The new provincial civil defence headquarters building is shown above. Located near the western outskirts of Edmonton at 146 Street, the two-storey building, of which one-and-one-half storeys are underground, is of reinforced concrete. A facade above the roof gives it a two-storey appearance. Approximately 33 feet by 84 feet, the building contains committee rooms, communication room, operations room, offices, washroom facilities, emergency kitchen and special ventilation features and is so designed that an addition can be made when necessary. The headquarters will also house the government's radio section, thus ensuring communication with all parts of the province in time of emergency.

More Economic Grief

That old bogey—the dollar shortage, has hit the headlines again for Great Britain. No sooner has Prime Minister Winston Churchill set foot again on British soil after his trip to the United States, than new, harsher restrictions were placed on the British people to solve, if possible, their money problems.

Though the crisis is related in terms of dollar shortage, it can be summed up in Britain's inability to produce enough to keep up with the new defence program and maintain the present standard of living which already is much lower than that enjoyed by Canadians.

Churchill can be depended upon to attack this renewed problem with his usual vigor and direct methods, and it is to be hoped that before very long the British will have been able to fill in with more production the chasm of dollar shortage which keeps them from enjoying more of the better things of life.

Food and Peace

The world cannot hope for a secure peace as long as great numbers of its peoples border on starvation and who are becoming sufficient with suspicion and hostility. It is increasingly aware of their poverty in relation to our plenty.

This statement was made at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture by the Prime Minister of Canada who suggested that Canadians can help to alleviate the world hunger by producing more through improved farm practices and sharing what they have with the hungry.

No one can dispute the Prime Minister's argument. As long as people have insufficient food, they will regard those who have difficult to talk a person into being a friend when the shadow of starvation is lurking behind him.

Some Canadians think we are producing as much as we can and that most of the arable land in the country is now in use. But increased production does not necessarily require more soil. It may be achieved by getting more out of the existing farm acreage. An announcement by the National Fertilizer Association verifies this. The association said that if grasslands in the United States were fertilized as recommended by the nation's agricultural colleges, the additional fertilizer would have made possible the production of almost 3,000,000 extra tons of beef.

Moreover, if adequate amounts of fertilizer had been applied to land devoted to field crops, U.S. farmers could have increased their corn output by 22 per cent, wheat by 13 per cent and cotton by 28 per cent.

If this could be done across the border, the same should be possible in Canada where facilities to produce fertilizers and other essential agricultural chemicals have kept pace with increased demands in recent years.

The Stubborn Minded

By this time it would almost seem as if the Soviet satellites in eastern Europe must be realizing they have not anchored to a star in the international political disputes of the United Nations. Time and again the Russian spokesmen have tried to win decisions that would bolster their reputation with their satellites, but time and again they have been turned down for good and sufficient reasons.

It surely cannot be that the satellite nations are wholly blind to this fact, or that they are incapable of understanding the implications of this repeated rejection of the Russian proposals? Or is it that their leaders are just stubborn and determined to follow the Soviet star until it sets?

Any open eyed democracy would wish to change wagons by this time if the driver proved as incompetent as the Soviet drivers appear to be. Statesmanship surely follows a more effective path than that followed by the Russian leader.

Almost everyone is a liberal, by his or her definition.

On Astronomy and Astrophysics

At the recent International Astronomical Congress, several engineers proposed that either the sixty-inch or one hundred-inch mirror of the Mount Wilson, California, telescope be sent some 22,000 miles into space to be used as an observatory. While the editor has no objection to this project, it might be well for the engineers to explain first how the mirrors could be set up in the space observatory.

The engineers say that the two mirrors at the Mount Wilson Observatory are virtually useless now because of the night glare of nearby Los Angeles, which fogs photographic plates. They also reject the idea of setting up the mirrors on the moon, in a new observatory there, saying that sky fog would handicap such a moon observatory. Because sky fog is caused by zodiacal light, there is no way of eliminating it other than locating a telescope as far out into space as Jupiter.

Because this is impractical, the engineers propose building the space observatory about 23,000 miles out from the earth. They have even solved the problem of keeping the mirrors from breaking en route by suggesting that they be encased in silicon putty, which is used to protect instruments and cameras sent aloft in rockets fired from White Sands, New Mexico.

As far as we are concerned, the engineers have presented a convincing case and have this newspaper's approval to begin their outward journey at the soonest opportune moment.

Seeding Dates and Yields

Experiments on the effect of date of seeding on yields of wheat, oats and barley have been conducted since 1923 at the Swift Current experimental station in southern Saskatchewan. Indications there are that for maximum yields barley should be seeded from as early as possible to May 1, oats from May 1 to May 20. Barley produced the highest average yields if seeded as early as possible, while wheat and oats produced the best yields if seeded during the latter part of the periods mentioned. The tests showed that the yields of all grain dropped fairly rapidly if seeding was delayed beyond these dates.

St. Lawrence Seaway

Farm people of Western Canada are interested in the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway, which Canada may build alone if the United States congress refuses to participate in a joint undertaking. When completed the project will provide a 27-foot channel stretching 2,350 miles from the mouth of the St. Lawrence at Belle Isle, near Newfoundland, to the head of Lake Superior.

A large part of the work has already been done. The principal remaining obstructions to passage of deep draft ocean-going vessels into the Great Lakes lie in the St. Lawrence between Ogdensburg and Montreal, a 119 mile passage. Construction by the United States would be limited mainly to a 46 mile section called the International Rapids, extending from Ogdensburg to the point at which the St. Lawrence ceases to constitute the international boundary. Canada would do the construction from that point to Montreal, where the river flows entirely within Canadian territory.

If Canada should undertake the project alone, she will dig the channel on her side of the boundary in the International Rapids and elsewhere, and collect all the shipping tolls.

A second feature of the St. Lawrence project is the proposed construction of a hydro-electric power plant at Barnhart Island on the United States side of the International Rapids. The annual average output of electricity would be about 12,600 million kilowatt hours, highest in the world.

FAYORS TARIFFS

I note that you carried an editorial quoting a recent statement made in the publicity organ of the Alberta Wheat Pool, on free enterprise. The editorial wants the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to define free enterprise. In particular, it wanted to know whether free enterprise means that cotton manufacturers must have tariff protection, and that Canadian motor car manufacturers must have higher price for cars made in Windsor, than similar cars can be sold for in Detroit.

Now this is thoroughly dishonest. This is an attempt to pretend that tariff protection is the sort of thing which will take place in a capitalistic society, while, in a socialist one, there would be no tariff protection. It is an attempt to capitalize on free trade arguments in order to make a case for socialism.

No government in the world has been more determined to use quotas, import and export permits and all other protectionist devices than was the socialist government in Britain. Mr. Coldwell would certainly be the last to announce that Canadian socialists demanded the removal of tariffs. He would lose too many votes—that is, the industrial areas of Ontario.

Tariffs were adopted by the Canadian government, not by Canadian manufacturers. They were put into effect because, until this was done, it was impossible to build up any sort of a manufacturing industry in Canada, so that young men and women seeking any other occupation than that of farming were forced to move across the border.

The Canadian manufacturer, reaching a smaller market than is available to the United States producer, simply has to get a higher price for his goods. If he did not, he would have to close his factory.

Now, anyone who believes in free trade is welcome to go down to Ontario and Quebec, and preach free trade. It is certain there will be no votes won in those areas in that way. To drag out the free trade and protectionist argument, as though that has something to do with the choice between free trade enterprise and Socialism, is a thoroughly improper approach to an important problem.

THE NEIGHBORS

When someone on our party line Rings two short rings (the call is mine),

What causes all those clicks I hear When the receiver meets my ear?

The neighbors. Who knows exactly what I owe On my new six tube radio?

The neighbors. Who sticks their nose in my affairs

When they should be attending theirs.

The neighbors. But, folks, when down life's party line

Old trouble sounds the call that's mine,

Who's first to say "Buck up, old man,

We're here to help you all we can?"

The neighbors. Who stands close when there's grief to bear?

Whose kindly hands seem everywhere?

The neighbors. Who, after all's been said and done

Are the best folks beneath God's sun?

HORROR FOR HONKERS

Compared to other places, Edmonton motorists get away with murder, particularly regarding excess horn-blowing. Unfortunately, too many feeble-minded drivers derive a sense of power and importance from shattering the air with these blasts. I suggest that some of these morons be locked in a special chamber, and be forced to listen to the blaring of their own horns for one solid hour.

WEATHER, SHORTAGES OF MONEY, MATERIALS, HAMPER ROAD WORK

Hon. Gordon Taylor, minister of highways in the Alberta government and Member of the Legislative Assembly for the constituency of Drumheller, says that "shortages are definitely threatening road progress in Alberta."

He said the shortage of materials is so serious that the Canadian Good Roads Association has urged the Federal Government to classify road building as an essential measure in defence.

Mr. Taylor goes on to say that limited funds are also a factor in slowing down highway construction. "Secondly," he states, "Alberta has not an unlimited amount of money. We have not found the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Certainly, because of wise government policy, namely, expending or using the money accruing from the depletion of an asset beneath the ground to build an asset above the ground, a larger amount of revenue has been made available to the Department of Highways than it otherwise would have had. But there is still a limit, and when the money voted by the elected representatives of the people is spent, work must stop."

17th MONTH OF SNOWFALL

A third factor and one over which mere man or government has no dominion is the weather. Alberta is now in its 17th consecutive month in which snow fell and that is a long winter in anybody's country. This weather last summer accounted for the loss of more than 1,700 10-hour shifts in main highway construction; a lot of road consequently was not built and all work was hampered.

The Agriculture Club "Field Day," this year presented in connection with Varsity Guest Weekend, is on tap for Saturday, March 1, at the University of Alberta in Edmonton.

Presented for the past several years as a separate event, the Agriculture Club has this year agreed to present the affair as a major event in the over-all scheme of the University of Alberta students and Administration to interest parents and prospective parents in the doings of students at the University.

High School students from every part of the province will attend the "Field Day" again this year, to see displays in every branch of Agriculture Club activities. Last year some 1500 High School students from rural areas in Northern and Central Alberta attended the affair.

In addition to the High School boys and girls this year, the parents of "Ags" will also be invited to take part in the event, in order to become better acquainted with the activities of their sons at the University of Alberta.

Displays in Field crops, Live-stock care and breeding, Dairying principles, Nutrition of farm animals, and various poultry displays will highlight the day long event.

In conjunction with the Agriculture Club, the Household Economics Club will also put on a show of their activities, of interest to women and especially mothers of the girls in the faculty. Cooking, sewing, nutrition and other subjects related to home-planning will be on review for the Agriculture Club "Field Day", Saturday, March 1, at the University of Alberta in Edmonton.

"Education Week" Planned March 2-8

A large turnout of teachers at the February meeting of the Clover Bar sublocal were present to hear Mr. F. C. Seymour, assistant general secretary of the ATA, outline plans and proposals for "Education Week," March 2-8. Mr. Seymour urged teachers to hold open house to the parents, and to bring to the attention of the public the vital role education is trying to perform in these turbulent times.

When asked to report on the result of the recent emergent meeting concerning salary proposals, Mr. Seymour said that, as yet, he was unable to determine what effect this meeting would have on salary negotiations with the various boards throughout the province.

Superintendent Dr. Jonason, who was present at the meeting, proposed that a committee of three representative teachers be set up to assist him in drafting program of physical activities for schools competing for the Strathcona award.

Wittchen-Liddell Vows Pledged

CROSSFIELD — On Saturday, Feb. 23 at 2:30 p.m., the Madden United church was the scene of the wedding of Laura Betty, youngest daughter of Mrs. M. Liddell and the late Mr. Wm. Liddell of Madden, to John, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Wittchen of Hanna. Rev. Ball performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Wm. Keil, a family friend. She wore a rust suit, with black and green accessories, and a corsage of Kokomo carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Edith Liddell, who wore a beige suit with black accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Herb Wittchen of Hanna.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. King and during the signing of the register she played "I'll Walk Beside You."

A reception for the guests was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron. The bride's mother wore a grey printed dress and her corsage was red carnations. The groom's mother wore a green dress and a pink corsage.

The bride's table was centred with a beautifully decorated wedding cake and bouquets of spring flowers. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Ball to which the groom fittingly replied.

After a short honeymoon in the southern part of the province, the young couple will reside in Hanna where the groom is on the staff of the Hanna Herald.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wittchen, Messrs. Herb Wittchen, Gordon Wittchen and Helmut Wittchen, and Miss Shirley Wittchen of Hanna. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wittchen of Drumheller; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Liddell of Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jordan, and Miss Edith Liddell of Calgary.

The "Loafing" or "Pen" type dairy barn is just one of the many recent improvements in farm buildings. You will be looking into new types of buildings, and new ways to arrange present buildings before you go beyond the planning stage of construction or repairs. Modern farm buildings are designed to save labour, protect herd health and lead to greater profits.

Crossfield Couple Wed in Calgary

CROSSFIELD—The chapel of the Central United Church, Calgary, was the scene of a quiet wedding, when Rev. Howie of Okotoks officiated at the marriage of Mable Lundren to Gordon Purvis, both of Crossfield. A basket of spring flowers graced the altar for this occasion, which was solemnized at 4 p.m. on Feb. 23. The bride was given in marriage by Wm. Bill's, Crossfield.

The bride chose an afternoon dress of pale mauve and carried a white prayer book, graced with an orchid and hyacinth bud streamers. She was attended by Mrs. Wm. Bill's, matron of honor, who was dressed in a two-piece afternoon frock of pink crepe.

Charles Purvis acted as groomsman.

Mrs. Bill Svetz sang "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

Only the immediate relatives were present at the ceremony and, at the reception which was later held in the Brentwood Room of the Empress Hotel. The table was graced with flowers and a decorated wedding cake. The happy couple left by plane for the east.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

Two years ago I married a boy just as we both finished school. We had planned to go to college but we both took a notion to get married and we ran away without letting our parents know about it.

Our parents were upset and as my husband was an only child his mother decided that she would try make the best of it and send us both to a co-ed school so that he could still get his education. This worked out fine for the first year but, after the baby came, things are not so pleasant.

I have to stay home with her, wash clothes and try to make our allowance for two stretch for three. My husband enjoys college life and wants to take part in all of the school activities. This throws him with attractive girls, who have lovely clothes and nothing on their minds but school work and a good time.

When he does get home, I am worn out and he doesn't seem to love the baby as I do. In fact, he doesn't act like a father but more like a brother to the baby. He doesn't seem to take his responsibilities seriously at all.

I am afraid if this keeps up that we will break up and that will be bad, especially for the baby.

Is there anything I can do to prevent this happening, I love him but I realize now that we were both too young to know what marriage meant when we eloped.

SORRY.

Answer:

You have a rocky road ahead of you and I hope you can make the trip without too much grief. Try to manage the best you can and not get discouraged, as that will only make matters worse.

The odds are always against the very young couple, who haven't had their play time before they get married. They wish to keep on playing and get angry when their responsibilities tie them down at home.

If youngsters would only take a little advice and wait until they are old enough to know what they want, a great many marriages would be saved from the divorce courts.

However, what's done is past, so make the best of your situation and do your best to make the outcome a happy one.

LOUISA.

$1 for EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

At recess a school chum crept up behind me and hit the back of my head with a football. Wanting to get even, I crept up behind her later and let her have it—but hard! Imagine my embarrassment when "she" turned around, and it proved to be the teacher who wore the same kind of outfit!

THEODORE TURKOWSKI
Colinton, Alta.

I was chasing my little brother around the house in a game of tag and with enthusiasm I shouted "Here I come, Alex, I'm a fast girl." Unbeknown to me a neighbor boy, also named Alex, had called to see me, and it embarrassed me to think he might have gotten the wrong idea from what I had called out to my little brother as he heard it.

$1 for BRIGHT SAYINGS

The Editor will pay $1.00 for each child's saying printed. Address "Bright Sayings", P. O. Box 4368, South Edmonton.

Father, a former cook, made a delicious layer cake with peanut icing. It was his birthday cake, but before the great day arrived his youngest daughter cut and ate a generous slice. When Dad discovered the cut in his lovely masterpiece, he announced to the family: "If the one who took that piece of cake will admit it I'll give her another piece." Quick as a flash, the youngest son asked: "... and what else?"
Colinton, Alta. Marion Mellott.

At the dinner table my three-year old niece asked for a third helping, but Grandma confronted her by saying: "I'm afraid you'll get so fat you won't be able to walk." Her reply was: "But Granny, you can still walk." Stony Plain, Alta. E. E.
